

Architects of the Future

Freedom or serfdom is now humanity's choice

What is your choice? To live in freedom, respectful of others as your Creator intended, or mercilessly suffer deprivation and harm at the hands of authoritarian psychopaths? That choice, facing all people, grows more urgent by the minute!

Only a minuscule few grasp its crucial importance. Many, if not most, are still asleep. Increasing numbers are baffled yet claim to be awake. Some rightfully question whether their nation's Constitution document should be rewritten.

The answer is absolutely yes! Had any empire, monarchism, socialism, communism, democracy, or republic ever permitted societal freedom, the world would not have plummeted towards destruction as it has. The principle of top-down rule has presided over the world for centuries. No one considers an alternative possible, so no one seeks such a thing.

Psychopathically destructive crime is irrefutably evident over four years past, and though millions, if not billions, seek remedy, precious few ask what caused it. Why are people so blinded? Why do so many spend hours, days, or weeks fussing over chronic symptoms, and no one considers their root cause? There are two reasons—

1. French Philosopher Jean Jacques Rousseau — said in the mid 1700s. “While freedom is a fact of nature, people should be taught to consider that it is dangerous; whereby they ought to sacrifice their individual nature to the artificial condition of citizenship. Furthermore, natural persons should become artificial persons, that is, citizens —wittingly or unwittingly—willingly, or by legal compulsion.” Humanity has never learned the first seven words and has swallowed the remainder hook, line and sinker.
2. Until 2017, human consciousness was, and predominantly still is, considered ‘awareness’ only. Psychologists and neuroscientists freely admit they do not know what consciousness is or how it works. How can you use your precious abilities or avert mental corruption?

Technology has leapt ahead, but knowledge of our mental operating system stagnates in middle-age darkness, putrified by ignorant illusions, presumptions, and erroneous ideologies. Frequency and energy hogwash regularly splash like a lubricant over apathetic people who refuse to seek the truth—because that's for academia. But that outcome, though tragic, is not the worst.

Governments prescribe our actions upfront through statutes and legislation and browbeat our acceptance with terms like the ‘rule of law’ and ‘no one is above the law.’ Thus, indoctrinated and cajoled, we fall into line to avoid punishment, whereby our subconscious mind automatically accepts those propagandised values as our preference and emotionally rewards our corresponding actions. The public is brainwashed, thereby mind-controlled without their knowing. As a result, governments are recognised as the benefactors of people's comfort and security. No one, it seems, knows that conscious nescience (ness-see-ence) is the root cause of our slavery to authoritarian rule. As a result, nobody knows what law factually is or has any clue regarding a freedom alternative to government, and that damnable catastrophe is today's crisis.

All who seek a new constitution must adjudicate their findings based on that dark age mental vacancy. Nescience is not the people's fault. No one can act on what was not known. The remedy is to learn and act on what is now known, not revert to common law, democracy, republicanism, or some other invented pretence.

People must learn that "freedom is a fact of nature" absolutely and that to rule in defiance is a crime against humanity! Only then can they write a NEW Constitution!

Our task is crystal clear. People must learn that 'law' is (intrinsic) natural law (Latin, ius naturale) and nothing else. Also, learn the fundamentals of the conscious process and its twenty governing laws bestowed by our Creator. They exist for us to live, thrive, and prosper in free, peaceable societies absent all authoritarian rule, fully protected from all harm and evil. When you learn that intrinsic natural law is not primarily about remedying crime but conclusively about your physical, mental, emotional, and spiritual emancipation, you will have advanced more in two milliseconds than humanity has in two centuries.

The truth is that we all were born into the jurisdiction of life. Those who deny life to structure society on the premise of death, as Rousseau advocated, voluntarily refute their (born) nature, rendering them incompetent to hold any public office. And they need to be told!

Within our conscious process, ethics, morality, individual rights and natural justice unite as one indissoluble framework blessed by your Creator. Your independence and freedom are assured, provided you respect the equal rights of all others to live likewise. Their freedom guarantees yours. All that remains is to protect your rights and freedoms from all trespass, usurpation, coercion, rule and violence. And that's the task of a new Constitution, a Declaration of Independence, and a Charter of Individual Rights, all drafted within 'Nature's Providence'— the title of my fourth book. This understanding is a radical new mindset never witnessed in recorded history, and when practised, personal and societal benefits fly off the charts.

Individuals indulge in ethical or unethical thoughts incapable of harming anyone but themselves. Later, they express their moral (or immoral) stature through actions. Everyone is the rightful author of their expressed morality and is fully accountable. Self-reliant people are self-focused. They master their abilities, minds, ambitions, imagination, values, thoughts, actions, and emotions. Their focused independence shows an example to all who apathetically abdicate from life and become dependent on others. Sovereign people apply life values such as diligence, discipline, respect, and integrity, all in pursuit of practical, moral, and spiritual thriving. They accept full responsibility and liability for their actions. Every mental and emotional reward signifies success. Skills of personal excellence, spiritual accomplishment, and emotional rewards testify to their advancement. Joy and happiness are their rewards.

Perfection is not demanded. Instead, an exemplary attitude toward life is required: spiritual mindedness resulting in ethical thought, leading to just actions and behaviour, and a decisive willingness to correct errors should they occur. When that process is engaged and upheld, sovereignty emerges. Sovereignty is not automatic. Its status cannot be claimed by default or granted by others since it only exists when self-actualised by living men and women. They set their desires, ambitions, and values on human nature and life, rightfully and lawfully establishing that any challengers must refer their dispute to their Creator.

Peace-loving, organic societies are not only possible, the likes of which the world has never witnessed, but nature impels us to do so. Many sovereign individuals will unite to institute such societies and protect their sovereign rights to life, freedom, and the pursuit of happiness. Logically, no political instrument may deny, control, usurp, brutalise, force, coerce or confiscate anyone's mind, no matter their political, authoritarian, legal, off-world or bloodline claim, period! As our source creator determined, the human mind is inviolate, and our nature permits no excuse or exception.

Humanity now has the solution it yearns for, as described in my books and documents prepared for 'Protectures' that lawfully replace legal governments. Let's be clear.

"Unless all created equal unequivocally ensure their unalienable right to life and inalienable right to property against all cancellation, violation, or usurpation, they will have no rights, no freedom, and no life."

Such importance cannot be overstated. Per my documentation, that mission is achievable via a 'Protecture' to replace the government. Now add the Protocols of Protection document highlighting the reasons, plus a biometric ID system that identifies living men and women and expressly excludes legal entities, and our remedy becomes crystal clear.

Protective and authoritarian governments are incompatible. No hybrid is possible; any more than life can blend with death. Unless unalienable rights and freedoms are specifically instituted and protected, they do not exist. Either life is held sacrosanct and protected or sacrificed to rule as it is today. Australians either want to advance beyond measure or apathetically ignore their born rights and pay the penalty. Our nature informs us that we do not need legislation and statute laws, especially given that 'no mind can rule another.' Our Creator's blessing is to thrive and to fly on wings we never dreamt of.

Australians can express gratitude for their deliverance and move forward as our Source Creator intended. These newly revealed natural laws are for our great benefit, but we must make them happen. That is why we have free will and why sociopaths refuse it, as did Rousseau.

We must seize, respect, enact, and protect freedom. Omit one of those four initiatives, and all is lost. That is the sole mission of the Protecture in replacing government. We exercise our right to self-mastery and protect the same rights for all others. It's that simple. All else is an abomination, interference, trespass, a violation of our rights and freedoms. Every immoral or unjust act, barring accidents, confesses one's guilt and testifies one's responsibility to effect remedy or restore the natural order. Those who step outside the law are outlaws who voluntarily relinquish their right to freedom, thus bringing natural justice to themselves. No judge must rule against them because they have already ruled against themselves. Natural justice (then) steers offenders back to an ethic-based morality.

The Nuremberg trials established that the perpetrator of harmful action is responsible and accountable regardless of the higher authority or military chain of command that ordered it. The same applies to legal authority, aka government. Every legal, judicial or government official who enacts an unjust, harmful action or crime does so by choice because, as the conscious process shows unequivocally, nothing would have happened had they not chosen. Similarly, all who work to govern your (so-called) strawman, a dead fictional entity bearing your plagiarised name, have voluntarily agreed to uphold a legal regime premised on death. They have chosen to relinquish the state of nature into which they were born – the jurisdiction of life. By so doing, they publicly confess they are unfit to hold public office of any kind, and further, all their statutes and legislations are void. Legalising fiction as though it is real instantly invalidates it. To voluntarily relinquish the supremacy of life in favour of a death premise is to admit that all of its legal statutes have no lawful life-protecting foundation whatsoever.

Governments have long proven to protect themselves at the expense of the people. Someone pretending to be a fictional legal entity, absent heart, liver, lungs, or mind, confesses by uttering just one word they are a living being playacting in utter denial of their nature. The more they insist on their legal authority, rank, position or office, the louder their confession. Our human nature is axiomatic—individuals must use it to deny it. Accordingly, all legal pretenders, charlatans and imposters are challenged to defend their authority in 'life' terms, not legal terms, or butt out. No government can deny a Protecture founded on the supremacy of life, or else it denies itself. Neither can any government justify life's protection when founded on the premise of death.

Life's intrinsic protection is an exceedingly powerful and lawful tool no one has previously considered. All who challenge it are doomed to fail. Its divine source is 'natural justice', which results from intrinsic natural law manifested by the conscious process that, tragically, no one knows about today. Either we learn to implement it, and thus profit, or we ignore it, and criminals profit.

Sadly, today's (rule by force) mindset is never challenged, even by millions who claim to be 'awake.' Tragically, but not through their fault, people remain blind to their inevitable fate, left to flounder in the dark regarding their nature, and denied all remedies.

The vast majority of today's problems stem from the insane notion that an authoritative minority must rule humanity, and that condition has never been challenged throughout man's entire history. The last few years show evidence that government supremacy has been usurped by corporate control, principally funded by fraudulent banking, money laundering and unspeakable human trafficking worldwide. Propaganda, indoctrination, conscious nescience and mind control have, over centuries, infused a common mindset that nothing better can ever exist for man, whereby the best on offer is to re-invigorate the prime source of all ills, namely government or corporate interference causing the people's sufferance or death while profiting all who administer these unspeakable crimes against humanity.

Natural laws intrinsic to human nature now irrefutably challenge that imbecilic condition. Our Creator's blessings call to account almost every book concerning human science, psychology, and philosophy, indeed all human science education, across the board.

Humanity is on the crest of deliverance indisputably. It is bestowed a future never dreamt of, but unless people reach out and accept that gift, it will smash beyond recognition, as has every societal structuring that showed promise in the past.

Australians now have a lawful path to an illustrious future bathed in freedom backed by our Creator. They can be the first country to stamp 'freedom' on the world map.

Will Australia accept that mission by utilising our Creator's gifts? Will you be an architect of the future? Or will another group or nation step up to the task instead?

I will conclude this paper with my vision for this nation.

Australians are moral, self-reliant, individual men and women defending unalienable rights and freedoms respecting all others, thus are—

- Life protagonists.
- Spiritually accomplished.
- Masters of intrinsic natural law. (ius naturale)
- Culturally vibrant and creatively powerful.
- Protectively, the envy of all nations.

© Copyright 2024. Kenneth E. Bartle.

Researcher, Objective philosopher, Psycho-epistemologist, Published Author,
Content Creator for 'The One Great Network,' USA.

For more information, please visit naturallmatters.com and read the “2024 Report.”

Seven videos from that webpage explore consciousness, as do about 30 information sheets on these topics and my books on the website aotf.site